What We Do
How does LPL protect my personal information?	To protect your personal information from unauthorized access and use, we use security measures that comply with federal law. These measures include computer safeguards and secured files. Our online environment uses security technologies, including layered security and access controls over personal information. For further information, please visit LPL.com and search "How LPL Financial Secures Your Information."
How does LPL collect my personal information?	We collect your personal information, for example, when you: • Open an account. • Enter into an investment advisory account. • Apply for insurance. • Tell us about your investment or retirement portfolio. • Seek advice about your investments. We also collect your personal information from others such as credit bureaus, affiliates or other companies.
Why can't I limit all sharing?	Federal law gives you the right to limit only: • sharing for affiliates' everyday business purposes—information • about your creditworthiness • affiliates from using your information to market to you • sharing for nonaffiliates to market to you State laws and individual companies may give you additional rights to limit sharing. See below for more on your rights under state law.
What happens when I limit sharing on an account I hold jointly with someone else?	Your choices will apply to everyone on your account.
Definitions
Affiliates	Companies related by common ownership or control. They can be financial and nonfinancial companies. Our affiliates include companies with an LPL Financial name; financial companies such as The Private Trust Company, N.A; non-financial companies and others.
Non-Affiliates	Companies not related by common ownership or control. They can be financial and nonfinancial companies. We may share information with non-affiliates, which include an independent representative's new brokerage or investment advisory firm, or banks/credit unions associated with accounts established through LPL representatives.

Joint Marketing	A formal agreement between nonaffiliated financial companies that together market financial products or services to you. This may include banks, credit unions or other financial institutions with which we have a joint marketing agreement.
